Borscht

I originally got this recipe from my mom who got it from her dad, so it comes with a little bit of history. Since then, as is tradition with all borscht, I've made my own changes, including a searing step for the meat to deepen the umami flavours, slow cooking the onions, and, most recently, adding some dill to the finishing step, which I think adds a really nice additional dimension to the whole thing.

Of course, all Borscht is different, so experiment with this!

I recently tried replacing half the stewing beef with two pounds of beef rib that I seared before cooking. After skimming off a truly astounding amount of fat off the top of the soup (I probably should've trimmed the ribs and rendered more of the fat out by searing it on the grill), it came out exceptionally tender and delicious.

I've also experimented with adding a few quartered and sliced potatoes to the soup, which can be a nice addition. Just make sure you put them in early enough that they cook through, but not so early that they turn mushy (I'd estimate that took about 45 minutes the last time I tried this).

My next experiment will probably be to add a little of my own dill pickle brine to replace some of the vinegar and dill and add some garlicky goodness.

Ingredients

Amt	Ingredient
2 T	Olive oil
8 C	Water
1 T	Salt
1	Bay leaf
4	Medium beets, quartered and sliced
3	Medium carrots, sliced
2	Small onions, quartered and sliced
1	Small cabbage ¹ , sliced into short 1/4" pieces
2 lbs	Stew meat
1 can	Tomato paste
1	Medium beet, shredded
4 T	Vinegar
4 T	Sugar

Amt	Ingredient
1 Handful	Fresh dill, chopped

Instructions

1. Cut stew meat into bite-sized pieces.
2. In a stock pot, pre-heat 1 T of olive oil over medium-high heat.
3. Brown stew meat in small batches to get a nice sear, then remove and set aside. If you're using stainless steel, you should build up a nice fonde in the pan. This is good!
4. Reduce heat to low and add the other 1 T of olive oil to the pot.
5. Add the onions and a pinch of salt.
6. Slow cook the onions for 15-20 minutes while prepping your other vegetables. Make sure to scrape up that fonde!
7. Add water, salt, bay leaf, beets, carrots, stew meat (with any juices), and enough cabbage to fill the pot. Note, there should be enough water to cover. If not, add more as needed.
8. Bring to a boil, then reduce to a simmer and cook for 2 hours.
9. Add tomato paste, shredded beet, vinegar, sugar, and dill.
10. Simmer until beet is cooked through.
11. Add additional salt, sugar, and vinegar to taste (we like a strong sweet-and-sour flavour in our household).
12. Serve with a large dollop of sour cream.

¹The original recipe called for four cups of broth but my experience is this recipe easily requires double that. It's possible I'm cooking at too high a temperature and stirring too much, leading to moisture boiling off, but four cups has never gotten the rice even close to al dente in my experience.

2. Cut the bottom core out of the cabbage, place in the pot, and cover with a lid.

Preparing the filling

This recipe uses partially cooked rice as part of the filling, with the remaining cooking occurring during baking.

 2. Bring to a boil, stir, then reduce to a simmer.
 3. Cook for 7-10 minutes, until water is absorbed.

4. Mix to combine.

Preparing the cabbage rolls

Note, this recipe tends to make enough to fill a 9x13" and a 9x9" pan.

1. In a bowl combine the remaining tomato sauce, a squeeze of lemon, and a dash of worcestershire sauce.
2. In a baking pan pour a small amount of sauce to coat the bottom of the pan.
3. For each leaf of cabbage, using a paring knife, pare away thick portion of stem.
4. Take a handful of filling, compress into a ball, and wrap, and place in the pan.
5. Repeat until the pan is filled.
6. Pour remaining sauce over the cabbage rolls.

Cooking the cabbage rolls

5. Lay chicken over bowl.
6. Roast at 425? until leg meat registers whatever is safe for chicken...

Chili

I genuinely cannot figure out where I got this chili recipe, but it's fantastic. The one caveat I would note, here, is that if you use hot Chorizo, you might want to skip the Cayenne (or vice versa), as this recipe can go from zero to nuclear hot pretty easily.

Ingredients

Amt	Ingredient
2 t	Vegetable oil
2	Onions, chopped
3	Cloves garlic, minced
32 oz	Fresh/uncooked Chorizo sausage
12 oz	Beef sirloin, cubed
1 can	Guinness
1 C	Strong coffee
28 oz	Canned diced tomatoes
1 can	Tomato paste
1 can	Beef broth
1/4 C	Brown sugar
3 1/2 T	Chili sauce
3 T	Chili powder
2 T	Cumin
1 T	Cocoa
1 t	Oregano
1 1/2 t	Cayenne pepper (optional)
1 t	Coriander
1 t	Salt
4 cans	Chili beans (I use have Kidney, half Pinto)

Instructions

This recipe should be executed in a large stock pot or dutch oven.

1. Remove sausage from casings, chop, brown, drain, and set aside.

2. Heat oil, brown sirloin, and set aside.
3. Fry onions until translucent.
4. Add garlic and fry until fragrant.
5. Return sirloin to pot and add rest of ingredients, except 2 cans beans, and simmer 1 1/2 hours.
6. Add remaining cans of beans, and simmer for another 30 minutes.

This chili is best served with a big dollop of sour cream (and some shredded cheddar cheese if you're feeling decadent).

Glazed Ham

You really can't go wrong with ham, and this recipe is absolutely fantastic. Gently pre-heating the ham in hot water and then warming in the oven low and slow ensures the ham comes out nice and juicy. Make sure to get a bone-in ham and save that bone to make Split Pea Soup!

You'll really want an instant read thermometer for this one, and allow for ample time in case you need to heat the ham longer to hit that target temperature.

Ingredients

Glaze

Amt	Ingredient
3/4 C	Maple Syrup
1/2 C	Orange Marmalade
2 T	Unsalted butter
1 T	Dijon mustard
1 t	Pepper
1/4 t	Cinnamon

Instructions

Ham

1. Place ham, in packaging, in a hot water bath for 45 minutes. Then replace water and bathe for another 45 minutes.
2. Take ham from packaging and place in an oven bag and cook at 250F to 100F, between 1 and 1 1/2 hours.
3. Open bag and push back, then brush with 1/3 of glaze.
4. Put ham back in oven and bake until ham reaches an internal temperature of 120F.

Might want higher serving temp.

Glaze

1. Combine all ingredients and reduce to 1C.

Risotto, Basic Version

This recipe itself acts as a base for many risotto variations. So treat this as a blank slate and do whatever you want with it! I myself make a Mushroom Risotto with this recipe as a base and it's out of this world!

Just note, this is not what I would think of as a weeknight meal. In my experience, stage two, alone, is a forty-five minute affair, and that's ignoring the prep work. I'd estimate the base recipe, here, takes a solid sixty minutes, and variations add thirty minutes on top of that.

The good news is that the result will easily feed six people, particularly if you pair it with a roll or a nice salad, and it makes excellent leftovers!

Ingredients

Amt	Ingredient
7-8 C ²	Stock (chicken, fish, or vegetable as appropriate)
1 T	Olive oil
3	Large shallots (or 2 small onions), finely chopped
1/2 head	Celery, finely chopped (discard tough outer ribs)
2 cloves	Garlic, finely chopped
14 oz	Arborio rice
1/2 C	Dry white vermouth (e.g. dry Martini or Noilly Prat)
5 T	Butter
3 1/2 oz	Freshly grated parmesan cheese

Instructions

This recipe is described in three stages. In the first stage you build a base of aromatics, lightly fry the rice, and add the vermouth. In the second stage, you ladle in the stock to cook the rice. In the final stage, you add the butter and cheese and make it all gooey!

Stage 1

1. Heat the stock in a separate saucepan. You'll want it very lightly simmering.
2. In a stock pot, heat the olive oil over medium heat until shimmering.

²The original recipe called for four cups of broth but my experience is this recipe easily requires double that. It's possible I'm cooking at too high a temperature and stirring too much, leading to moisture boiling off, but four cups has never gotten the rice even close to al dente in my experience.

3. Add shallot or onions, celery, and a pinch of salt, and sweat for 3 minutes.
4. Add the garlic and cook for 2 minutes.
5. When the vegetables are softened, add the rice.
6. Increase heat to medium high and slowly, continuously stir the rice for 2 to 3 minutes. Note, you don't want any colour in the rice, so no browning. If the heat is too high, lower it.
7. Continue stirring and add the vermouth, and cook until the vermouth is absorbed.

Stage 2

1. Add your first ladle of stock (the original recipe also suggests adding a pinch of salt along the way but I prefer to season at the end).
2. Turn down the heat to a high simmer–medium low to low. We don't want a hard boil as the liquid will boil off before the rice is cooked through.
3. Stir until the stock is mostly absorbed.
4. Repeat steps 1-3 for about 25-30 minutes³.
5. Taste the rice. Is it cooked? If not, keep going. You want the rice to be soft but with just a bit of a bite.
6. Check seasoning and salt to taste.

Stage 3

1. Remove from the heat and add butter and cheese (and make sure to save a little for later to sprinkle on top!) Stir gently.

³The original recipe stated 15-20 minutes, here, which is wholly inadequate in my experience. Even 25-30 minutes is probably too little, but I've not gotten around to measuring the actual time. Just... be prepared for it to take a while!

Risotto, Mushroom

This recipe starts with the Basic Risotto Recipe and builds off of it, so you're going to want to familiarize yourself with that recipe before you read through this one.

Note, the great thing about this recipe is that you can really use any kind of mushroom you like. Just make sure not to wash them, as they soak up the water (which you don't want)! Gently brush off any dirt with a pastry brush or dish towel.

And don't turn up your nose at dried mushrooms, either!

Ingredients

Amt	Ingredient
1	Basic risotto recipe
9 oz	Fresh mushrooms (one type or a mixture), sliced or torn
3 T	Olive oil
Small handful	Fresh thyme, chopped
1 clove	Garlic, finely chopped
1 handful	Parsley, roughly chopped (optional)
1 pinch	Chili powder
1	Lemon, halved

Instructions

Note, in this recipe, you'll be searing mushrooms in a very hot pan. You'll want to do this work in 2-3 batches so you don't crowd the pan. You'll also want a very good vent fan as this can produce a bit of smoke...

1. In a hot pan⁴, heat one tablespoon of olive oil until just smoking.
2. Add mushrooms and some of the thyme.
3. Cook for 1 minute, toss, then add some garlic and a pinch of salt.
4. Cook for another minute or two until softened and browning.
5. Add parsley, small pinch of chili powder, squeeze of lemon, and some fresh cracked pepper.
6. Toss, season to taste.
7. Let cool, then chop half of the cooked mushrooms.

⁴I strongly recommend cast iron or stainless steel for this, as operating a non-stick pan at very hot temperatures is bad for the pan and results in dangerous fumes that can injure or kill household pets.

8. At basic recipe stage 2 (after the vermouth has been added, before adding the first ladle of stock), add the chopped mushrooms.
9. Add the remainder at stage 3.

Sausage with Lentils

Ingredients

Amt	Ingredient
60 g	Pancetta, cut into 1/2 inch pieces
1	Small onion, chopped fine
2	Carrots, peeled and chopped fine
3 cloves	Garlic, sliced thin
1 T	Fresh rosemary, minced
1 T	Tomato paste
3 C	Chicken broth
1 C	Dried brown lentils, rinsed and picked over
1	Bay leaf
1 lb	Sweet italian sausage
1/2 C	Fresh basil (optional)

Instructions

1. Cook pancetta in 12-inch skillet over medium heat until fat is rendered and pancetta is crispy, about 6 minutes.
2. Add onion, carrots, garlic, and rosemary, and cook until vegetables have softened, about 4 minutes.
3. Stir in tomato paste and cook for 30 seconds.
4. Stir in broth, lentils, and bay leaf, scraping up the fond.
5. Nestle sausage into lentils and bring to a boil.
6. Reduce heat to medium-low, cover, and simmer until lentils are tender and sausage registers at least 160 degrees, about 40 minutes.
7. Remove lid and continue cooking to reduce liquid to preferred consistency (a little broth is nice, though!)
8. Remove skillet from heat and transfer sausage to cutting board.
9. Stir in basil and season with salt and pepper to taste.
10. Transfer sausage to carving board and cut into 1 inch slices along the bias.
11. Place sausage on top of lentils and serve.

Split Pea Soup

This is hands down one of my favourite soups to make. The ingredients are cheap and readily available, the effort is fairly low, and the result is delicious and filling! And it's the perfect way to use the bone after you've made Glazed Ham.

The only downside to this recipe is the wallclock time required. The full recipe takes two to two and a half hours to put together, but most of that time is spent letting the soup bubble away doing its thing. If, like me, you're fortunate enough to be able to work from home, this is pretty doable as a weekday meal. If not, you'll probably want to save this for the weekend.

Ingredients

Amt	Ingredient
1	Small ham hock or ham bone
2 C	green split peas, rinsed and picked over
8 C	Cold water
1	Large carrot, diced
1	Large celery rib, diced
1	Medium onion, minced
2 cloves	Garlic, minced
Small handful	Fresh thyme sprigs

Instructions

1. In a large stock pot combine ham hock or bone, split peas, and cold water.
2. Bring to a boil, reduce heat, and simmer for 1 hour.
3. Stir in carrot, celery, onion, garlic, and thyme.
4. Simmer one more hour.
5. Remove from heat and remove ham hock or bone.
6. Discard bone, skin, and fat; dice the meat and return to soup.
7. Simmer to desired consistency.

Zucchini Quiche

To be very clear, this is not a tradition quiche in any way, shape, or form. Rather, the result is a light, eggy sort of pie that's a bit hard to describe but is really pretty tasty and damn easy to throw together. And it makes for a great way to use up zucchini.

And for the record, yes, I doubled the cheese as compared to the original recipe. . .

Ingredients

Amt	Ingredient
1 C	Easy Bisk mix
4	Eggs, lightly beaten
1	Onion, chopped
1/2 C	Vegetable oil
1 C	Cheddar cheese, shredded
3 C	Zucchini, shredded (with skin on)
1/2 t	Salt
1 t	Pepper
1 T	Fresh dill, chopped

Instructions

1. Combine ingredients in a bowl and mix well.
2. Pour into a lightly greased pie plate.
3. Bake at 325 for 1 hour, until golden brown on top and knife comes out clean.

Note, the baking time is very much approximate. Don't be surprised if it takes a good 15 minutes longer than indicated.

Pickles and Preserves

1	Quick Sour Pickle Brine

Instructions

1. In each jar, layer cucumbers, garlic, and pickling spice.

Fermented Dill Pickles

Modified from my Classic Dill Pickles recipe.

I only started fermenting pickles in 2022, and while I still need to dial this recipe in a bit (the last batch didn't have a strong enough hit of dill and could probably use some other ingredients to round out the flavour of the brine), the umami flavours you get in a fermented pickle are delicious and addictive!

Plus, fermenting foods is fun!

Ingredients

Amt	Ingredient
4	Pickling cucumbers
4 Cloves	Garlic, peeled and sliced
1	Dill head
1 T	Pickling Spice
1	Fermented Vegetable Brine

Equipment

1. Two mason jars
2. Airlock lids
3. Fermentation weights

Preparation

I tend to ferment pickles in small batches right in the jars rather than the old school method of crocking them.

1. Clean and sterilize mason jars and airlock lids. My preferred method is to wash with soap and water and then boil for 10-15 minutes.
2. Wash and sterilize fermentation weights as per manufacturer instructions (mine are glass so soap and water is sufficient).

Instructions

1. In each jar, layer cucumbers, garlic, and pickling spice.
2. Add dill head.
3. Place the fermentation weights into the jars on top of the veggies.
4. Pour hot brine into jars leaving a 1/4" of headspace and close with airlock lids.

5. Allow to cool and then transfer to a cool, dark place to ferment. Aim for a location with a stable temperature between 18-22C (which describes my basement).
6. Allow to ferment for 6 days.
7. Replace airlock lid with standard lid and transfer to refrigerator.

After step 6 it's a good idea to taste the pickles to see if they've reached the desired level of sourness. If you prefer more tang, ferment for longer before transferring to the refrigerator (or let them sit in the fridge for a few days, as they will continue to ferment, just slowly). Just remember to clean and sterilize whatever you use to fish out those pickles, as you don't want to contaminate the brine if you discover they need a bit more time on the shelf.

I'd also check the jars every few days to make sure no garlic has escaped past the fermentation weights, as any exposure of food to the air can result in spoilage.

Fermented Vegetable Brine

This recipe results in a 3% brine, which is the minimal required for safe fermentation. I prefer the salt content of this brine, but it does result in a relatively fast fermentation (six days on average in my home).

For the salt, any straight salt that excludes iodine or anti-caking agents is suitable. This would include coarse or fine grained kosher salt, pickling salt, or sea salt. Most recently I got a jar of Himalayan sea salt because it was the only thing I could find and it worked well, aside from imparting a pink colour to the brine.

Ingredients

Amt	Ingredient
2 C	Distilled water
14 g	Pickling salt or equivalent

Instructions

1. Combine water and salt in a pot and boil until dissolved.

Pickled Cherry Tomatoes

Every time I've mentioned this recipe to someone, their first reaction "Pickled tomatos? I've never heard of that!" And when they try them they're blown away by how incredibly delicious they are! My first attempt at this recipe was with Candyland currant tomatoes and they're absolutely perfect in this application, producing nice, small, firm, flavourful pickles.

Originally from Spruce Eats.

1 lb	Cherry/grape/currant tomatoes
4 Cloves	Garlic, peeled and sliced
2	Rosemary sprigs
1 t	Black peppercorns
1/2 t	Red pepper flakes
1	Quick Sweet and Sour Pickle Brine

Instructions

1. Using a skewer or something similar, poke a hole in each tomato so the brine can penetrate the tomato.
2. In each jar, place a rosemary sprig, and layer tomatoes, garlic, peppercorns, and red pepper flakes until jars are filled.
3. (Optional) Place a weight on the top of the tomatoes (e.g. a glass pickling weight).
4. Pour hot bring into jars and close.
5. Allow to cool and then transfer to the refrigerator.
6. Allow to pickle for two days.
